Diamond IPL

The Diamond Light treatment is different to laser, in that it provides superior permanent hair follicle destruction with less pain and discomfort than other progressive permanent hair removal methods. Anyone who has been waxing is truly amazed how superior and easy Diamond Light hair removal is for them and will not go back to the pain of waxing. The common waxing areas for women - the chin, upper lip, cheeks, under-arms, legs and arms are extremely successful and "a breeze" in comparison. Bikini areas and even Brazilians are almost painless compared to waxing.

Generally it takes a minimum of 4 to 6 treatment sessions, at maximum power output possible for your skin colour, to produce truly effective and long term hair reduction.

Darker tanned skin colour and lighter coloured hair will require more treatments, as less power can be safely applied without fear of skin surface burns, and because there is less melanin in the hair root. Excessive hormonal hair growth will also require additional treatments.

However, excellent long term hair reduction is available for everyone with Diamond Light. Any hair regrowth in the future will always be weak, thin and lighter in colour, arising from damaged hair follicles. These can be destroyed with further maintenance treatments if necessary. Treatments commence at four weekly intervals for the first four treatments, for maximum benefit.

A fifth and sixth treatment is usually added at one to three monthly intervals, depending on whether there is further hair growth.
